Fifteen Cents

The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

This & That from Here & There

Writing editorials is the most fun a newsman can have without laughing.

There are so many things that occur daily to hold inquisitive attention that the question often becomes which of many options should be explored.

For example: a communication from State Senator Bob Wilson who appears upset by the State's Art Council (SAC). His solution is simplistic. He wants to abolish it!

"It (SAC) has been irresponsible in how it distributes its funds. It has lent financial support to an embarrassingly large number of ridiculous projects (and wants to increase its budget 3-fold) done."

"Its 'conceptual art project' consisted of submerging a sealed container of 77 works of art in a river. Colorful banners were dropped from helicopters to celebrate the occasion while the event was filmed."

"There are other questionable projects, such as authorizing a grant for music for migrating whales."

One wonders if Wilson's embarrassment is as great in view of these projects as ours is regarding the thousands of our tax dollars the Brown regime is spending for such foolishness?

Then there is an advisory from Senate Pro-tempore James R. Mills who almost single handedly gave us bicycle lanes along the highways. His new concern is the joys of running. Says Mills, "Distance running promotes good cardiovascular health," about which few persons would disagree.

To achieve this purpose, however, he proposes to close the San Diego-Coronado bridge on October 14 "to stimulate public involvement."

Since the San Diego Heart Assn. is involved, it must be a splendid project.

But instead of closing the bridge for the duration of the race, why doesn't he close one of his bicycle lanes so that a few cyclists will be indisposed instead of the motorists who pay 60 cents-$1 to keep the bridge in operation.

Then there was a communication from L.G. City councilman Jack Doherty, who complained of Sheriff John Duffy's refusal to renew the license of the Spring Valley swap meet.

"You don't close down a big operation because there are a couple of crooks in it," said Councilman Doherty, who is on leave of absence from the S.D. Police Department.

The hell you don't. Police should stop crooks wherever they be.

But Doherty is a candidate for Duffy's job. His criticism may be partly political. It was only weeks ago that he was complaining that it was improper for L.G. Mayor Jim Dorman to stay as trustee of the L.G. School District while serving as an official of the City of Lemon Grove.

Councilman Doherty may want to explain why there is more disservice to the electorate for Dorman to serve on the school board while accepting the duties of Lemon Grove's first mayor than a councilman (Doherty) running for sheriff while attempting to perform his sworn duties to the same council over which Dorman presides. (Dorman resigned his school board post when he found both efforts were beyond his time availability).

But back to the swap meet. There is a traffic situation; a noise problem; a stolen merchandise (sheriff) activity and alleged sales tax deception practices by some of the swap participants.

If there are unlawful acts being perpetrated, they should be acted upon by the sheriff. So far, it has not been proven that such acts exist.

A notice from the Spring Valley Park & Recreation District regarding the annexation of the entire attendance area of the S.V. School District (excluding only Eucalyptus Park). The District would operate on a budget of $66,792 — 18.8 cents for each $100 assessed valuation. That's 5.4 cents lower than the allowable 24.2 cents maximum rate.

Assessed valuation is $35½ million for the total district.

And from the beer people came this intelligence on beerology by which you may impress friends:

There are several distinct types of beer: Lager is the most widely sold beer in America as a sparkling, effervescent beverage with a soft, mellow taste. Lager stems from German meaning to stock or to store.

Light Beer—Lager. Distinguished by low carbohydrates and lower calories.

Pilsner—An especially light, bright lagered beer.

Bock—A heavy beer, darker and sweeter than lager. Usually brewed in the winter for spring consumption.

Malt liquor—Frequently having more than 4 per cent alcoholic content with a delicate and aromatic flavor similar to a porter or stout.

Ale—an aromatic, malt or cereal brew, usually fuller bodied and more bitter than lager beer.

Stout—A very dark, sweet-tasting ale with a strong hop character.

Porter—A type of ale, like stout but not as strong, having a rich and heavy foam. It is sweeter and less "hoppy" than ale. Cheers, experts!

And from Happy Blake, past commander (several times) of Lemon Grove's V.F.W. Post No. 2082 comes information that the post's Teen Age Dances, now in its 6th year, may win a national award for the local organization.

It is the one teen-age activity that has been consistently presented every month on the 4th Friday 7-11 p.m. where everything is free for teen-agers.

That includes sandwiches, soft drinks, door prizes and the kind of music teen-agers like.

Any teen-ager may attend—but by ticket only. Each must pick up the ticket from the dance chairman at the club lounge on or after the 15th of the month. 10:30 a.m.-7 p.m.

Rules are rigid. Those who leave the building may not re-enter.

Is it popular? You bet. Tickets for the club's capacity are gone long before dance night arrives.

A salute to the L.G. V.F.W. for an ongoing project that has the approval of the youngsters.

Old Time Days Parade Sat., 11 a.m.

GRAND MARSHAL — Sydney Koala, the San Diego Zoo's 7-foot replica of the tiny, cuddly bear-like animals that are native to Australia, is Lemon Grove Old Time Days Parade Grand Marshal. The Zoo in S.D. is the home of the koalas in North America.

Effective May 4, 1978

Business Licenses OK'd

Lemon Grove City fathers approved a business license ordinance Monday at its bi-weekly meeting.

Those who conduct any type of business in the community will come under licensing control.

It will also bring peddlers and door-to-door operators under control locally for the first time. The ordinance will become effective May 4, 1978. Applications will go into the mail by mid month. The first billing will be for a half year. Those who fail to receive an application should call City Hall—464-6934.

Council approved resolutions by which Mayor Jim Dorman was authorized to sign agreements with the County of San Diego for street maintenance and for the city's traffic signals care.

Several citizens were heard. Dick Whitmore, president of the L.G. Planning Association announced an April 13 meeting at the Community Center (7:30 p.m.) at which a continuing downtown improvement project would be discussed.

Businessman Olin Thompson asked the council to concern itself with lack of parking and pot-holed condition along Broadway. Mayor Dorman said council would do what it could to help.

Mike Steiding, a contractor, got a "go ahead" nod in his request for a special use permit for a project at 7100 Mt. Vernon st.

Council named the public park between Osage st. and Skyline dr. Eppeck Park for the park's former owner.

Council proclaimed "Old Time Days" in for the Community's 15th annual celebration and presented a copy of the resolution to Brenda Coberly and Lu Anne Holaday who had sparked this year's edition of the event.

It was announced that Councilman Del Lake had been appointed to LAFCO (Local Agencies Formation Commission) by getting the nod over S.D. City Councilman Jesse Haro. LAFCO is a state mandated organization concerned mostly with annexations, incorporations and other matters which cause urban sprawl. Lake's term runs through 1981.

Norman Polakowski, 1993 Imperial ave., expressed dissatisfaction with the council for zoning changes without informing each property owner

Two Held in Assault, Death

Randall D. Larson, 18, of 822 Sacramento st., Spring Valley, is being held in jail on a charge of murdering Stephen Earl Lewis, 20, a Grossmont College student and a charge of attempting to kill Rocky Joe Ferguson, 18, an unarmed security guard.

Also in custody is a 13-year old Spring Valley youth who is being held in connection with Lewis' murder and the attempt on Ferguson's life.

Ferguson was found in a ditch at Jamacha rd. and Sweetwater Springs Blvd. and was recuperating at Grossmont hospital. His condition Wednesday was called "serious."

Property Tax Due Monday

San Diego County Treasurer-Tax Collector James E. Jones is encouraging property owners who have not paid the second installment of their 1977-78 real property taxes to get them in by April 10.

Since the deadline for income taxes is also in April, Jones thinks some taxpayers miss the April 10 deadline because they confuse it with the last day to file income tax returns. A 6 percent delinquent penalty and $3 for costs will be applied to payments postmarked or paid after April 10.

Jones reminded property owners that they are not excused from paying either taxes or penalties because they did not receive a tax bill.

Stubs for second installment payments were attached to tax bills mailed in October. Property owners who have misplaced their tax bills should call the tax collector's office at 236-3121 to find out how much they owe.

Last Week's Visitor

Sankey Has 'Warm Spot' For LG City

Iris Sankey, the State Board of Equalization member of the 2nd Equalization District — which includes Lemon Grove-Spring Valley and 9 counties in Southern California, was in Lemon Grove last week.

She came to see how Lemon Grove was thriving in the first year of its incorporation infamy. During her visit she paid a call on this newspaper office.

"I have a warm spot for Lemon Grove," Sankey said. "I was on the ballot (in San Diego) at the same time that Lemon Grove was on its ballot for incorporation. We both won. I was elected to city council (together with 3 other women) but incorporation failed."

Had the election passed she

It could be one of the largest Lemon Grove Old Time Days Parades ever to step off for the march up Broadway avenue.

Commemorating the City of Lemon Grove's first birthday under the theme "Going on One," some 138 units will be gin assembling at 10 a.m. near Vista ave., making ready for parade's scheduled 11 a.m. march.

There will be changes in the route of this year's 15th annual Old Time Days Parade.

The parade will march up Broadway avenue and disperse at Washington street, near the carnival site at St. John of the Cross Church.

In previous years, the parade made a right turn onto Kempf street and dispersed at Lemon Grove Junior High School.

There will be more floats in this year's parade than in the past.

St. Philip's BBQ

St. Philip's Episcopal Church will offer their famous BBQ on Saturday for those attending the Lemon Grove Old Time Days Parade.

Serving will be from noon to 7 p.m. at the church on the corner of Palm and Hardy streets.

Tickets are $3.25 for adults and $1.75 for children under 10 years old.

Float entries include presentations by several Lemon Grove service clubs, churches, businesses, and from area wide organizations.

Among those floats will be entries from the Lemon Grove Kiwanis Club, the Lemon Grove Lions Club, the LG Chamber of Commerce, the Old Time Days Committee, and VFW Post 2082.

Two local churches have promised float entries. The First Baptist Church of Lemon Grove float will be a puppet bus and will appear in the lead division, the Lemon Grove division, while the entry from St. Philip's Episcopal Church will ride in Division 4.

The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation of La Mesa has entered a float on which will ride some of the children the organization serves.

Also, at least two local businesses will enter floats. Doll House Construction Company plans a house on wheels. Dave's Feed Store has also planned an entry, yet due to conflicts may cancel.

The Al Bahr Shrine is guaranteed to have at least one float entry in their Division 2.

The Lead

Leading the parade will be Lemon Grove Fire Department's $73,000 fire truck. The 1,500 gallon per minute pump will have on board a full crew of firemen.

The fire department will also round out the Lemon Grove division with an antique Mack fire truck.

Also leading the parade will be Grand Marshal Sydney Koala, the mascot of the San Diego Zoo, and the Old Prospector, Ed Carpenter of Lakeside, who serves as division marshal.

Lemon Grove Mayor James Dorman and a dry city council will be riding behind the marshals in the lead division.

The mayor, council, Fire Chief Bob Adams, and city manager Jack Shelver will all be dodging baseballs later in the day as they take part in a dunking booth at the carnival.

Councilman Dale Bailey will be the first to be dunked when the booth opens at 2 p.m. He will be followed by Fire Chief Bob Adams at 2:30, Councilman Del Lake at 3:30, city

Order of March

Here is a handy list of the units in Lemon Grove's Old Time Days Parade Saturday.

The parade with approximately 140 units will start from its gathering point on Broadway near Massachusetts at 11 a.m. and travel eastward to St. John of the Cross church near the site of the OTD carnival.

The largest single entry is the Al Bahr Shrine group with 20 units.

Leading the parade will be Lemon Grove's new $80,000 Fire truck, followed by Sydney Koala, the grand marshal. Sydney is so big (7 feet tall) that he can't walk — He just shuffles along. So they have put him in a convertible so he can keep up with the parade.

There's An Answer

by Mr. and Mrs.
Norman Vincent Peale

Is there any hope?

Q. I lost my husband just nine months ago. It is taking a toll on my life to the point that I have no desire to keep a home.

Before I enjoyed having a clean house and meals on the table for him. We were just inseparable.

I was home in the daytime waiting for him in the evening. When we did anything we did it together.

I have very few friends because we gave up everything for each other. I have children and grandchildren who are a lot of help, but I just am not satisfied with anything.

It seems every way I turn there is a block. I am afraid I might do something to myself that would disgrace my children. Is there any hope for me?

A. The trouble is that you are still living through one of the most profound shocks a human being must face, namely the death of a very dear person.

Understandably, since you had such a close relationship, the loss of your husband is devastating. You must just stick it out, and with earnest prayer maintain your good, sound thoughts.

The shock will heal. Also, you will need to get out of yourself and make some new friends. Every human being must face the possibility of readjustment. You can do it, and God will help you.

We have a booklet, "Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled," that has helped others with questions such as yours and a copy of it is on its way to you.

Israel To Get Animal Park's Rare Beasts

The San Diego Wild Animal Park is participating in an international effort to help propagate a desert animal threatened with extinction.

Four addax, desert antelope which once roamed much of North Africa and the Middle East, are scheduled to depart this week for the Hai-Bar South Wildlife Reserve in the southern tip of Israel.

The four female addax will join eight Arabian oryx, also a rare desert antelope, from the Los Angeles Zoo for the trip to Israel.

The addax and the Arabian oryx from Los Angeles will become part of Hai-Bar South's collection of animals which inhabited that area in biblical times. Hai-Bar South is a 3,000-acre tract of fenced desert land near the city of Elat (or Eilat).

The Wild Animal Park in February cooperated with the World Wildlife Fund, the Jordanian Royal Society for the Conservation of Nature, and the World Herd of Arabian oryx to send four Wild Animal Park-born Arabian oryx to a reserve in Jordan.

Both addax and Arabian oryx have reproduced well at the Wild Animal Park, although they are rare in their former native habitats.

The Wild Animal Park currently has herds of 50 addax and 42 Arabian oryx.

Designer jewelry must be original, conceived, and executed by the exhibitor and the finished design, jewelry piece or pieces, must be displayed together with the various steps taken from start of the project to finish. Workmanship also will be the high score in this division, Anderson said. Awards similar to those offered in the Tiffany lamp competition will be given.

Jewelry may be entered in two other divisions of the Gems and Minerals Show. There also will be categories for mineral specimens and lapidary work.

Rape Victim Manuals

The nation's first manual on how to care for rape victims and to bring sexual attackers to justice has been completed in San Diego and will be placed at area hospitals and community agencies.

The 127-page "San Diego County Protocol for the Treatment of Rape and Victims of Sexual Assault" is based on the expertise of professionals in the field and calls for procedures to reduce the trauma and discomfort of rape victims.

The protocol was developed by the Subcommittee on Sexual Assault and Intra-Family Violence of the City of San Diego's Advisory Board on Women in cooperation with the S.D. County Department of Human Services and S.D. County Emergency Medical Services.

State Program Shows Gains in Helping Mothers Finish School

SACRAMENTO — A new state program to help pregnant teen-agers in 13 California school districts has cut almost in half the number who drop out before graduation.

Two years ago, 7 out of 10 pregnant students enrolled in the districts left before receiving their diplomas, according to a survey conducted by the State Department of Education.

Since the new program began, the number has been cut to 4 out of 10.

Sixty percent of the teenage mothers are continuing their education while receiving personal counseling and special courses such as parenting and child care.

The survey also found that the program significantly increased the number of teenage mothers who found jobs or went on to college and sharply reduced the number dependent on welfare.

The State Legislature nearly doubled support for the program this year due to its dramatic success. Currently funded at $1.23 million, the program enrolls 500 girls in the 23 districts now qualified for program funding. Many more girls are on waiting lists.

"The program funds are well spent. They enable these young mothers to make their own way and gain confidence in themselves," Wilson Riles, state superintendent of public instruction, said.

The teenage mothers are cheered and encouraged by sharing special classes with other students facing the same challenges and by participating with non-parents who also enroll, Riles said. In addition, both the mothers and their babies benefit from child development centers which are provided by the program and located near the mothers' high schools.

Mary Ann Schwikert, who heads the project from the Department's Office of Child Development, said the program also arranges for expert counseling in school work for the young mothers.

The survey covered the original 13 high school or unified school districts which participated in the first two years of the program: El Monte, Elk Grove, Fresno, Kern, Los Angeles, Modesto, Pajaro Valley, Salinas, San Diego, San Juan, San Mateo, Sierra Sands and Vallejo City. They were joined this year by Lompoc, Orange, Red Bluff, Redlands, Napa, Chino, Sacramento, Garden Grove, Delano and Alameda.

The Legislature and the Department began to consider a program after national surveys repeatedly found pregnancy to be the single major reason why teen-age girls dropped out of high school, Riles said.

The Department found that as many as 10 percent of the female high school population in California may need the program. In addition, it found that despite the effectiveness of contraceptives and a nationally declining birth rate, the number of births among girls below age 14 has increased.

In an effort to follow up on girls who were graduated after participating in the program, the Department received informal reports from six of the districts showing that more than 90 percent were either working or working and attending school.

Three of the districts provided detailed information on 25 students who were graduated after participating in the program, Riles said. Of these, only one was on welfare, five were attending junior college, 11 worked and eight married working husbands.

'They're Off' in Baseball; 'Frisco Tests Padres Friday

The San Diego Padres will begin the "play for real" portion of the 1978 baseball season tomorrow when the club opens its 10th anniversary season in the National League against the Giants up in San Francisco.

With a good spring training period behind them, the Padres will be opening up against a club which they have never beaten in two previous opening day encounters. Looking back through the years, the Padres dropped a 4-0 decision to Juan Marichal in 1971 and then suffered a tough 2-0 ten-inning loss in the 1975 curtain-raiser.

Following the opening series with the Giants, the Padres will move on to the Deep South for three tussles with the Atlanta Braves. Monday through Wednesday, April 10-12. Unlike the contests in San Francisco, all three games in the Georgia capitol will be under the lights.

The meetings with the Braves will close out the Padres opening road trip of the season as the club will then return home to prepare for the home opener on Friday, April 14, against San Francisco.

The Padres have tabbed newcomer Gaylord Perry to be their starter in the opener at San Francisco with Bob Shirley going in the middle game and Randy Jones in the finale. As for Atlanta, the Padres will use Bob Owchinko, Dave Freisleben and Perry with Jones then handling the opening day assignment in San Diego on April 14 versus the Giants.

"Any opening series is an important one," said first-year manager Roger Craig, "but maybe ours is a little more important this time around."

Cajon Speedway Opens 16th Race Season Sat.

It has been 16 years since a group of men met at Cajon Speedway and formed what was to become the El Cajon Stock Car Racing Assn. The group has come a long way, progressing from a slam-bang claiming stock cars to highly sophisticated and highly modified super stock car racing machines.

Saturday night the popular super stocks will launch the 24-race 1978 campaign at Cajon Speedway with the show kicking off at 8 on the 3/8 mile paved oval.

The local group has undergone several transformations over the winter in preparation for the 1978 season.

A new tire compound has been made mandatory this season in hopes of reducing skyrocketing tire bills.

A new race has been added to the regular Saturday night card—a trophy dash for the four fastest qualifiers in the semi-main will be held.

The consolation race for the non-qualifiers has been lengthened from 10 to 11 laps with a guaranteed $100 going to the winner of the race.

The regular Saturday night super stocks card will start with qualifying at 6:30 followed by the two Trophy Dashes at 8. These events will be followed by four 8-lap heat races which will determine the starting positions in the evening's fastest 20 cars go post-ward in the 40-lap main event.

1978 should be a year of transition for ESCRA Five time champion Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley has indicated that he may not be competing full time this year and popular Ed Hale from Lakeside is retiring. If McIntyre limits his racing this would leave the door open for a new champion. Not since 1974 has another driver been able to come through. That year Ron Overman edged Gary Cross-

"We'll be going with a totally new infield plus some new faces in key spots such as Oscar Gamble in the outfield. Maybe more importantly, though, is the fact our opening schedule has us going against three clubs we really need to beat consistently in order to put together a good season."

"Taking a look at the schedule, we play San Francisco, Atlanta and Houston the first 18 games of the season. If we can get off to a good start against these clubs, then I think we'll be in excellent shape to make a serious run at Los Angeles and Cincinnati."

land by only four points at season's end.

Overman and Crossland figure to be two of the many hopefuls trying for the crown. Among those battling this pair will be Ron Esau of Lakeside, and Mike Hagerman of El Cajon. Esau won four straight main events at the close of last season in the El Capitan Oil Camaro and would appear to be the driver to beat this year. Hagerman however, was a tough competitor all last year and ended up in second place in points behind McIntyre.

Other challengers for the title will include Larry Hagerman of Lakeside, Sonny Tomlinson of San Diego, Mike Greenwell of El Cajon, Mark Norris of Lakeside and Lanny Pemberton of Lemon Grove. At least 60 drivers are expected for the opening night show.

2 Knockouts In Coliseum's 4-Bout Scraps

There was a lot of switching around on Friday's card at the San Diego Coliseum.

Mike "Little Animal" Rundell was suffering a dental problem. Len Provo, the Marine sergeant of San Diego, was down with a heavy cold. So there were substitute bouts. 4 bouts—two 8's and two 4's—made up the 24-round card.

In Troy Vaughn lost a 5-round split decision to Steve Bentley, middleweight of Long Beach. Bentley decked Vaughn in the 2nd round for a count of 8.

Alberto Cota of Mexicali dropped Lawrence Rodan of Long Beach for the 3rd time in a 5-round welterweight fight at 41 seconds into the 2nd round. Rodan took the mandatory 8 count twice in the first.

In an 8-round heavyweight scrap, Fona Leota of Samoa floored Leni Vanasi of Tonga in the first round. But Vanasi regrouped himself and came back to save a defeat. It was called a split-draw.

It took all 8 rounds of the lightweight main event for Jose Resendez of Los Angeles to outpoint Sergio Nularte of Monterey.

There will be no boxing card this week at the Coliseum. The next one is scheduled for April 14.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

A rookie isn't likely to crack the nostalgia barrier and whip the field in the Masters Tournament, underway this weekend down among the consecrated southern pines of the Augusta National Golf Club.

No rookie would dare. The Masters is no place for an upstart, shining faced kid hardly old enough to sip his mint julep.

August National is hallowed ground, fittin' only for the Masters of the trade. Horton Smith. Gene Sarazen. Craig Wood. Byron Nelson. Ben Hogan. The specter of their presence haunts mere mortals who dare to tee it up as if this were just another golf match.

It's not likely this week's Masters will bring a new qualifier to next week's even more prestigious gathering of the game's giants.

While the Masters invites the venerated to Augusta, the MONY Tournament of Champions invites the present to La Costa.

To tee up in the MONY Tournament of Champions, a player MUST have won a PGA Championship tourney in the since since the preceding MONY T of C. There are no ifs, and or buts about it. The MONY T of C is for winners only.

And while the Masters may not provide a new face in its winner's circle, the limited field of the MONY Tournament boasts nine new entries.

If there is such a thing as a NOW sporting event, the MONY T of C has to be at the top of the list.

Severiano Ballesteros, a veteran of foreign fairways despite his age (he'll be 21 this week) earned entry to the MONY tourney with a sweet swinging, six under par finish at Greensboro last week, holding off a sterling charge by San Diego's own version of tomorrow, Springly Jack Renner.

La Jolla's Craig Stadler was just two strokes off the pace after chipping in on the 18th. Renner missed a six footer by two inches on his tieing attempt after overcoming bunker troubles with a pin-high sand shot.

Next week they'll be here, the best in the trade. Jack Nicklaus. Tom Weiskopf. Hubert Green. The very personable Lee Trevino. Al Gieberger. Ray Floyd. Miller Barber. Hale Irvin. La Jolla's own Gene Littler. Each one a millionaire at the game. Each a repeat visitor to La Costa.

But for every millionaire teeing up in the MONY T of C, a first time starter will answer the bell. Jim Simons. Mike Morley. Bill Kratzert. Andy North. Bobby Cole. Jerry Pate (who qualified last year, but couldn't play because of injury). Bill Rogers. Ballesteros, of course and the Andy Williams-San Diego Open winner, Jay Haas.

Nine millionaires and nine first time starters in a field of 28 players. You can't hardly get any more current than that.

And while a new name isn't likely to pop out of the sacred swinging going on this week at Augusta, there's no way next year's MONY Tournament isn't going to include youngsters like Jack Renner or Craig Stadler.

It's only a matter of time till these lads win one of the big ones and gain entry into the most exclusive starting field in the entire game.

It makes you kind of proud that both these youngsters are products of the San Diego Junior Golf program. But then again, so was Gene Littler. Even if that was so long ago he forgot it.

Now is the time to plan that Alaskan fishing trip.

The ice is out in some Alaskan water, and, as the days grow longer each day, the fishing is getting better and better.

In southeastern Alaska this is one of the peak periods for king salmon, which average 25 pounds or better and run up to 60 pounds. No hurry, though, these fish stay in the area through July. At the latter part of this period they are joined by runs of silver salmon, which come in smaller packages but are better game-fish on the end of a line.

Other available species include steelhead, rainbows, Dolly Varden and cutthroat trout. Big halibut, which range up to 100 pounds, are frequently caught here, also.

Trotting or mooching is the favored way to catch the kings and halibut. Casting flies and spinners as the best way to take trout, and is accomplished by float plane trips to inland lakes and rivers.

In central Alaska the best fishing occurs from mid-June through August, with king salmon in greatest abundance in the early and middle part of this period, and silver salmon most plentiful in August. Other common species include rainbow and Dolly Varden trout, Arctic grayling, and sockeye, chum, and pink salmon.

Lodges offering fishing in this area are all reached by float plane from Anchorage, and this transportation is usually included in tour packages. At either of two Silvertip lodges, for instance, one can then by float plane. This is a beautiful unspoiled wilderness reached by scheduled flights to Dillingham or King Salmon from Anchorage, and Arctic char and gravling country, the home of big rainbow and Dolly Varden trout, but it also sees its share of salmon, too. The kings are in River/Tikchik Lake region, is these waters from mid-June to mid-July, and silver salmon are most abundant during a six-week period commencing in mid-August.

Several posh lodges are lo-fish a week for $500 per person.

Western Alaska, or the Wood cated in this area, and all of them tailor fishing exactly to the guest's desires. Want to float plane will fly you to a river where three-pounders are common. Golden Horn Lodge is one example of this operation. Although located on a beautiful lake filled with trout, it provides a pair of float planes to its guests so they can sample the varied fishing throughout the region. Prices for a week of fishing at these lodges average $1000 or more, but the deluxe accommodations, service, and fine food more than justify these prices.

Anchorage is the Alaskan gateway for the best fishing in the state and can be reached by regular flights from Seattle. If you live further south and east, you can hop a Braniff jet in Dallas and make the long trek northward without changing planes.

ToC Facts and Figures As MONY Playtime Nears

RANCHO LA COSTA—Defending champion Jack Nicklaus now has the longest consecutive qualifying streak in the MONY Tournament of Champions, April 13-16, co-sponsored by Mutual of Omaha.

Nicklaus, looking for his 6th title here, has qualified 16 consecutive years, or annually since he turned pro . . . However, Gentleman Gene Littler will be playing in his 17th MONY T of C. Billy Casper and Arnold Palmer also played in 17 events. Palmer still holds the record for qualifying 18 straight times.

La Jolla's Littler, the only man to win three consecutive titles, is the oldest man in the tournament at 48. Miller Barber is next at 47. Littler first played in 1954 before Jay Haas was even born. Haas, nephew of Bob Goalby, is the youngest player in the field at 24.

Allard Roen, the tournament chairman, has spearheaded operations of the MONY T of C all 26 years, which makes him the elder statesman of tournament officials. Roen knows more prominent golf pros on a personal basis than any other tournament official.

Haas isn't the youngest to compete here. Ben Cranshaw was 22, but the honor goes to Raymond Floyd. When the fun-loving Floyd competed in 1963, his style was cramped because he was under the legal age of 21 to enjoy the wonders of Las Vegas. Ray was only 20 at the time.

The tournament record is 368, 20-under par by Jerry Barber in 1960. Barber, the smallest player ever to compete in the MONY T of C at 5 ft., 5 in. and 135 lbs., won the big way. He played the 16 par-

5 holes in 15-under par. The second lowest score was 272 by Jay Hebert the same year. That score would have won every tournament (24), except, of course, in 1960.

The lowest score at La Costa is 23 by Frank Beard in 1970. He also shares the 18-hole best, a 64, with Jack Nicklaus (1963) at Desert Inn (CC) and Arnold Palmer (1967 at Stardus CC). Barber holds the 54-hole record of 201 in 1960, and Jack Nicklaus the 36-hole best of 132 in 1963. Graham Marsh set the 9-hole record at La Costa, scorching the front nine in 29, 7-under par.

The highest winning score was 285 by Littler in 1957. Next highest was 284 by Gary Player in 1969, the first time the tournament was conducted at La Costa. The highest 18-hole total was 8 by Bill Garrett in 1971. Garrett and Bruce Crampton share the highest 72-hole totals of 310 also in 1971.

Tournament chairman Allard Roen has distributed $2,870,238 in prize money. With this year's $225,000 purs, the total loot will be over three million, $3,095,238. Jack Nicklaus has been the principal beneficiary, collecting $192,827.

In the inaugural event, Roen gave Al Besseling -0,000 silver dollars, transported in a wheelbarrow.

The record number of qualifiers was 36 in 1971, although 35 competed when Billy Casper was asked by the State Department to tutor King Hassan II of Morocco. The least number of qualifiers was 20 in the first two years, 1953 and 1954. More recently the low number of qualifiers was 26 in 1972.

Omni-Racquets Tournament Offers $40,000 in Purses

Tennis star Guillermo Vilas, current U. S. Open champion, will compete in the $40,000 World Racquets Championship May 6 at San Diego's Atlas Health Club.

Vilas, who also included the French Open among his 14 major tournament victories last year, will face champions in racquetball, table tennis and badminton during the round-robin event with the participants competing in each sport but their own.

The Vitalis-sponsored event last year was won by world squash champion Sharif Kahn, who has accepted an invitation to defend his title. The competition will be shown nationally by CBS June 11 from 12-1 p.m. First place is worth $15,000.

Marty Hogan, 20-year-old sophomore at San Diego State, has been named to represent racquetball in the competition. The champions for table tennis and badminton, as well as an all-around woman racquets champion, will be announced later to complete the six-person field.

Hogan has won 7 of the 3 tournaments on the current pro racquetball tour, captured 9 of 11 events last season and has reached the finals of every event he has entered in nearly three years.

Jerry Sandstrom, vice-president of the host Atlas Hotels, said that tickets for the World Racquets Championship are now available by advance reservation prior to the public sale.

Tickets are $7 and will admit to the entire competition. Ticket headquarters is the Atlas Health Club, 901 Hotel Circle S. Mission Valley.

Vilas, 25, earned $418,642 in tournament prize money last year, second highest among all players. He won 92 percent of a record 141 matches, was nearly unbeatable on clay where he won 44 consecutive matches and most often was judged the world's top-ranked player.

Kahn, 33, was born in Pakistan and now is a teaching pro in Toronto. He easily dominated last year's World Racquets Championship played in Spring Glen, N.Y., winning the racquetball, tennis and badminton competition and finishing second in table tennis. Because squash is not included in this year's competition, Kahn will consider racquetball as his specialty and will not compete in that sport.

The individual competition will consist of one set in tennis and one game in table tennis, racquetball and badminton.

3 Top Spikers Return to SDSU

Two outstanding San Diego area high school seniors and a junior college transfer from Hawaii have announced that they will attend S.D. State U. this fall and play for coach Rudy Suwara on the Aztec women's volleyball squad.

Renate Busch of Hilltop High and Mary Holland of Grossmont High were first team selections in the Metro and Grossmont Leagues respectively in 1977, while Sylvia (Dolly) Kaawa has accumulated numerous state and national honors while at Kaimuki High in Hawaii and Santa Ana Junior College.

Busch led the Lancers to the 1976 CIF volleyball title and was chosen to the All-Metro League and the All-CIF squads in both 1976 and 1977. In both those seasons she was voted most valuable member of her team, and was the Metro League's most valuable player in 1977. She also made second team All-Metro in basketball in 1977.

Besides her All-Grossmont League selection last season, Holland was a second team All-CIF choice in volleyball, was on the All-Conference tennis squad and was a second team all-league softball player.

In her two years at Santa Ana JC, Kaawa was the South Coast most valuable player both seasons and won most valuable player honors at the junior college nationals in 1976, and at the state tournament the following season.

She was selected most valuable player at tournaments in San Bernardino and Fresno while at Santa Ana, and was the most valuable high school player in Hawaii her senior year.

All three women should help the Aztecs improve on last season's 18-16 record.

Changes at HollyPark Keeps Fans in Mind

A never-ending improvement program, begun several seasons ago at Hollywood Park has been continued in 1978, the facility changes made with the patron in mind.

Fans attending the Inglewood track opening day, Wednesday, April 12, will find a number of additions, all designed to make an afternoon of racing more enjoyable.

The Park, resplendent with its freshly-painted bright exterior, will offer a new six-window admission booth at the south end of the grandstand and once inside, patrons will discover three new conveniently-located refreshment stands, offering a wide variety.

Patrons who travel to Hollywood Park by bus will find a new, more convenient bus depot recently erected which allows fans to be discharged within a few yards of the admission gates. And always alert to the needs of the handicapped, Hollywood Park has added 20 more kingsize parking spaces for persons requiring wheelchairs.

Mods, Street Stocks To Open S.B. Speedway

A lot of water has washed over the speedway since they last appeared but the modified and street stock car drivers figure they're finally ready to roll with the season opener Saturday night at South Bay Park Speedway 117.

Gates open at 6 p.m. with trials scheduled for 7 and the first race set for 8 p.m. on the quarter-mile dirt oval.

The modifieds headed by defending champion John Cartwright, now of Lakeside, will tackle 30 laps in the feature while the slam-bang, unpredictable streets will hook up in a 20-lapper. The program will include dashes and heats in each division.

Cartwright, a 32-year-old mechanic, will campaign his Nova again while last year's runnerup, Ken Snelling of Bonita will drive a Camaro this season. Rick Powell, president of the sanctioning South Bay Racing Association, intends to campaign a new Jack Martin-built Camaro in hopes of making it a multi-car battle for the crown.

Saturday night, April 15, the USRC midjets will open their season and appear once a month through 1978.

Sockers Open Season At Stadium Saturday

The division-leading San Diego Sockers open its home North American Soccer League schedule Saturday at 7 p.m. in the San Diego Stadium.

The game will be broadcast live on radio station KOGO (600 AM).

San Diego jumped to the top of the American Conference-Western Division with a convincing 4-1 win over the Whitecaps in Vancouver. The Socks 9 points are two-up on Oakland and California who share second place. San Jose has no points.

Rochester is one of the favorites in the National Conference-Eastern Division, but have some tough company in the Cosmos, Washington, and Toronto. The '77 Lancers finished second in their division, and advanced to the semi-finals of the NASL playoffs before being eliminated by the eventual-champion Cosmos.

Aztec Spikers In Pair of Home Games

The S.D. State volleyball team will be looking to first reach, then pass the .500 mark in the Southern California Intercollegiate Volleyball Assoc. this week with a pair of home matches in Peterson Gym. UC Santa Barbara will provide the opposition on Friday at 7:30 p.m., with Loyola testing the Aztecs on Saturday, also at 7:30.

In Los Angeles on February 22, San Diego State was a 15-10, 15-2, 14-16, 14-16, 15-7 winner over the Lions, while in Santa Barbara on March 3, the Aztecs were beaten three straight by the Gauchos, 7-15, 9-15, 13-15.

Last week marked the beginning of the second round of SCIVA competition, and the Aztecs tripped UC Irvine in three straight games (15-5, 15-9, 16-14) for the second time this year. Coach Rudy Suwara's squad, losers in three games to Pepperdine in Malibu on March 4, fared better this time around, going five games before falling to the Waves, 8-15, 15-11, 5-15, 15-12, 6-15.

The Aztecs now stand at 415 in conference play, and are 7-6 overall (12-8 including tournament action).

Trip to Capital Is Bowlero Prize

An all expense paid trip to Washington will go to the winning man and woman bowler of the April 15th roll-off at Brunswick Bowlero Bowl, it was announced by Mike Baker, manager.

Baker said 48 bowlers will roll 3 games starting at 2 p.m. The bowler with the most pins over average in a single game will be sent to the nation's capitol to represent the center in the international finals of Brunswick's 13th annual "Bowl Your Way To Europe" Tournament, May 26, 27, 28. The public may attend free of charge.

Participants qualified for the Saturday roll-off by winning the High Game of the Month award. Each qualified league bowler at this center was placed in one of two classes: men, 150 average and under, and 151 and over; and women: 130 average and under and 131 and over. The bowler rolling the highest game in each class, each month, received a plaque and was eligible for the local roll-off.

"Two winners will be representing our center," Baker said. "They will be competing against bowlers from other Brunswick operated centers from all over the United States and Canada, making this an international event."

Bobby Sox Play Opens Sat.

The L.G. Bobby Sox League has scheduled opening day ceremonies for 12:30 p.m. Saturday at the L.G. Junior High school field, 7866 Lincoln ave. The game and a barbecue lunch will be attended by local officials.

Mariners Close Season Strongly

Even though being eliminated from the Pacific Hockey League Playoffs this season, San Diego's Mariners are ending the season as the strongest team in the league.

The Mariners have won their last 3 in a row, and have won 7 of their last 9 games. League leading Phoenix has won 6 of their last 9, San Francisco has won only 4 of their last 9, and Long Beach has lost their last 7 in a row.

The Mariners have 2 games remaining . . . all on the road. The San Diego skaters play in Long Beach Friday and Saturday nights.

A real race has developed for the Mariner scoring lead. Center Bob Sauve has led the scoring almost all season, and still does. He notched goal number 22 against Long Beach Saturday to add to his 29 assists in that game to give him 16 goals and 34 assists for 50 points . . . only one behind Sauve. So that'll be a race to watch closely during the last three games.

Winger Joe Fidler is next closest in the scoring race with 15 goals and 24 assists for 39 points. The fourth leading Mariner point-getter is Winger Carl Sargent. He's also in contention for the top goal scorer. Earl has 20 goals and that's only two behind Sauve.

Grudges, Exoduses On 5-Bout Groan Card at Coliseum

Grudges, trophies, head-shaving, unmasking and exoduses.

They all come together Tuesday night during the professional wrestling matches at the S.D. Coliseum.

The gong sounds at 7:30 for the first of 5 matches.

Moondog Mayne will go against El Falcon with the loser leaving town.

If the loser is Moondog, his head will be shaved—right in the ring. El Falcon will be unmasked for the first time if he loses. Since it is called a Mexican Death Match, there will be no referee to prevent illegal holds and acts so there'll be no disqualification. There is also no time limit. The winner will get a pat on the back. The loser will get a goodbye wave.

For the San Diego championship trophy, Hector Guerrero faces Outlaw Ron Bass.

The grudge between Black Gorman and Coloso Coletti will be settled—sort of—in their scrap. Johnny Rivera tackles the Great Goliath and Chavo Guerrero meets a newcomer with a single name—"David."

The Coliseum is at 15th and E sts. in downtown San Diego.

Postal Protection

The local Post Office reminds patrons that Postal Consumer Protection Week is April 10-15.

It is designed to alert consumers to the types of mail fraud schemes perpetrated by unscrupulous operators.

Legitimate mail order firms do $60 billion in annual sales. Fraudulent operators cost consumers more than $1 billion annually, the postmaster reported.

Hilary Johnson Inks Breaker Pact

Hilary Johnson has signed a one year contract to play for San Diego's professional volleyball franchise, Robert Gerrity, General Manager and President of the San Diego Breakers announced.

Johnson, a three year veteran of the International Volleyball Assn. led the league in serve receiving last year. After playing for the Santa Barbara Spikers in 1975 and 1976 she became a member of the 1977 IVA champion Orange County Stars.

She represented the Western division in the IVA All-Star match held in Denver last season, as well as being named All-IVA for the last two years.

"I was raised in La Jolla, so it's kind of exciting to be playing on home territory. I believe that the Breakers' front office situation is strong and I'd like to help San Diego capture the IVA title again," Johnson said.

Currently assistant volleyball coach at SD State U, Johnson is also working on her master's degree in business administration.

Insurance Crisis Pending For Area School Districts

SACRAMENTO — California's public schools face an insurance crisis that could bankrupt them if it remains unchecked, Wilson Riles, state superintendent of public instruction has disclosed.

Riles said the seriousness of the problem is documented in a new report prepared by the State Department of Education and the ad hoc Liability Insurance Committee he appointed last June.

The committee found that the cost of liability insurance in the last four years has increased an average of 345 percent for elementary school districts, 320 percent for high school districts and 414 percent for community college districts.

"Costs have gone up so much that some school districts can't afford to pay for the insurance they need to protect themselves," Riles said. "And even if they have the money, coverage is hard to get because many insurance companies are not interested in insuring schools."

The report cites four reasons for the large cost increases:

• More and larger claims awarded by courts.

• Legislation eroding the "sovereign immunity" that traditionally protected government units from being held accountable for harm resulting from negligence.

• Long delays in the hearing of cases by courts to complete a liability claim. To avoid the long hassle, insurance companies now settle more cases out of court.

• Financial difficulties confronting insurance companies as a result of a low stock market and premium income falling short of awarded claims.

California school districts now spend $40 million per year for liability insurance, Riles pointed out.

He said San Diego schools pay $723,663 in insurance rates or 529 percent more than they paid four years ago.

In addition to citing skyrocketing costs, Riles also expressed concern about the vastly different charges districts are being forced to pay for similar coverage.

One district, for example, gets $10 million coverage for $300,000 while another slightly larger district pays $700,000 for the same coverage.

"It doesn't make sense," Riles said.

The report suggests two possible solutions:

• Establish a statewide pool of dollars which would reimburse school districts and county school superintendents for liability judgments in excess of $1 million.

Each school district would have $1 per year per pupil (average daily attendance) withheld from its state principal apportionment. The dollars would be placed in an interest-bearing account and would be used to reimburse districts when necessary. This program, which would replace commercial coverage for claims of $1 million or more, could result in a savings for the state's schools of as much as $11 million annually in liability insurance premiums. When the pool reaches a certain dollar amount, the assessment would be suspended.

• Reduce premiums by providing a cooperative service to help school districts with safety improvement efforts.

Following up on the report, Riles is calling together a group of school district officials and insurance experts to make recommendations for legislation that would resolve the problem.

The group will work closely with the State Senate's Insurance and Financial Institutions Committee and the Legislature's Joint Committee on Tort Liability.

"I am optimistic that we will find a satisfactory solution before the end of the 1978-79 school year," Riles said.

Copies of the Department's report titled Liability Insurance in California Public Schools are available for $2 each, plus 6 percent sales tax for California residents, from Publication Sales, California State Department of Education, P.O. Box 271, Sacramento 95820.

1977 Vehicle Theft Stats Released by Highway Patrol

Recoveries of stolen vehicles increased seven per cent during 1977 in California compared to the previous year, but the number of vehicle thefts also increased — by five per cent — according to statistics released this week by the California Highway Patrol.

Commissioner Glen Craig said 142,600 vehicles were stolen in the state last year compared with 135,768 in 1976. The number of recoveries went up from 117,221 to 125,381.

Craig said the recovery rate in 1977 for all categories of vehicles was 87.9 percent, an improvement over 86.3 percent the previous year.

The Commissioner said automobile thefts increased only 1.9 percent while recoveries were up 4.0 percent.

There were 103,853 automobile thefts last year with 97,

558 recoveries for a recovery rate of 93.9 percent, an improvement over the 92.1 percent recovery rate in 1976.

Vehicle categories with the largest percentage theft increases last year were personal trucks (pickups and vans) with a total of 15,489 for a 22.0 per cent jump, and motorcycles, 17,419, up 16.5 percent.

Highway Patrol statistics showed that owners of recreational vehicles apparently took greater precautions to prevent thefts because that category showed the largest percentage drop (16.0) from 2252 in 1976 to 1892 last year. But recoveries dropped 16.1 percent from 1740 to 1460.

Craig said "recovery" of a stolen vehicle often is of little solace to the owner whose vehicle is just a shell after being stripped inside and out, or to the person whose car has been "totaled" in a wreck. Craig commented that the accident rate for stolen cars is much higher than it is for other vehicles.

$35 Million Paid For Disability Insurance Plans

The State's Employment Development Department has reported approximately $35 million in benefits were paid to California workers in January through the State Disability Insurance Program.

The program covers workers who become unemployed because of illness or injury not related to the job. Job-related disabilities are covered by Workers' Compensation.

Unlike the regular unemployment insurance program, which is financed by employers, the disability program is paid for by the employees themselves.

The weekly benefit payments totaled $33,030,424, plus $1,884,600 in hospital benefits. A year ago, in January, 1977, the weekly benefit payments totaled $30,127,244 and the hospital benefits totaled $2,040,468.

A total of 43,339 first claims were paid, compared with 40,886 in the same month last year. Total weekly payments during January (including claims continued for more than one week) totaled 188,997, compared with 179,567 in the same month last year.

Additionally, a total of 26,483 payments towards hospital costs were made, compared with 26,944 a year ago.

Job Placements Down

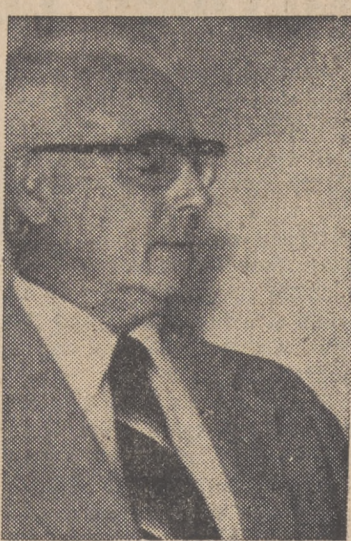

California's State Employment offices in San Diego County made a total of 2,541 job placements in February, it was reported by the Employment Development Department (EDD).

This was a slight decrease from the January placement total of 2,815, but was over 24 percent higher than the number placed in February 1977, which was 2,043. Hiring in the current February was set back by the unusually poor weather.

For the current fiscal year (October through February), EDD has made 13,881 placements, compared with 10,365 in the same five-month period in 1976-77. This is an increase of 33.9 percent.

The corresponding figure for October through February 1975-76 was 7,678. This is an increase of 81 percent for the two-year period.

Metric System; How it Works

By John Corbett

One question many people ask is, "Why should we change our measuring units?" Perhaps this will give some of the reasons.

Louis F. Sokol, president of the U. S. Metric Assn. wrote a small article for the Virginia Mathematics Teachers publication answers.

By L. F. Sokol

Sometimes it is difficult to believe that the United States is the last major nation to be implementing the International System of Units (SI) as its primary measurement language.

The acceptance of the SI in our economy is being led by industry for purely economic reasons. The majority of our large multinational companies and many small ones are becoming increasingly involved in foreign trade whether it is selling machinery or constructing a university in Saudi Arabia. Invariably, these undertakings must use the SI as their measurement language.

Basically, industry would like to operate worldwide using a single measurement system. It would like to operate with one set of worldwide engineering and product standards, many of which are measurement sensitive. With all other major nations metric or in the process of converting to the use of the SI, it is not difficult to perceive that the universal measurement language must be the SI.

The question is often raised, "Why should the average person be asked to change measurement systems just because some major companies are making the move?" The answer simply stated is that it is wasteful and uneconomical for a nation to continue to use two different measurement systems. This is somewhat analogous to having two written languages — it is done for political expediency in some countries, but it is not as efficient as having only one written language. There is the additional consideration that a workman is more efficient in the use of metric units if he uses them in his total environment including his sports, hobbies, and consumer purchasing activities.

Sen. Mills Wants SD A&E RR 'Operative'

State Senate President pro Tempore James R. Mills (D-San Diego) said that weather-related washouts between Los Angeles and San Diego underscore the urgent need to bring the San Diego Arizona and Eastern R.R. back into service as soon as possible.

"Had this washout occurred near Del Mar where the tracks already had been moved inland because of cliff erosion, it would have been disastrous for San Diego."

"The second largest city in California would have been left without any railroad connections with the outside world and the economic impact on business people and consumers in San Diego would have been incalculable," he declared.

"The Santa Fe Railroad is to be commended for quickly attempting to restore service," said Mills.

Mills said it is imperative that the SD &AE Railroad must be made operative as soon as possible in order to assure alternative rail service into the San Diego area in the event of interruptions on Santa Fe tracks.

The State Public Utilities Commission is scheduled April 4th in San Diego to take up an SD A&E petition to abandon the 145 mile railroad because of serious storm damage which occurred in 1976.

San Diego's Metropolitan Development Board has been studying the question of acquiring the SD A&E, a section of which is under consideration as a light rail, public transit-freight system from downtown San Diego to the Mexican border.

Deddeh Switches To Amended Bill

When Senate Bill 1 had been amended Assemblyman Wadie P. Deddeh (D-Chula Vista) stated his support for this legislation. The amendment that has put Senate Bill I in a new perspective is the deletion of the transfer tax on homes.

Deddeh said, "I am proud that the position I took prior to this acceptance caused several other colleagues to quietly express their concern and that is the reason this change took place."

The bill in its amended form will do the following:

1. Provide 30% property tax relief for the homeowner and keeps the $1750 homeowner exemption which we now enjoy.

2. Increases from $37 to $75 renters' relief.

3. Buys out the total cost of welfare that has been paid by property taxes and places a revenue limitation on state and local government.

Deddeh continued, "This is a big step in making Senate Bill 1 acceptable and should prove to be the property tax relief that we have been striving for and which has been needed to give taxpayers much needed tax relief."

S.D. Finances Under Study

An independent and systematic examination of San Diego's financial condition to assure its fiscal health, has been announced by Mayor Pete Wilson's Board of Fiscal Overseers.

During its initial meeting Friday, the 9-member ad hoc committee promised to develop a consolidated financial report for the city and formed subcommittees to evaluate the potential impact of the Jarvis-Gann initiative on the city's financing, to study the growing impact of federal and state funds on the city's budget and to review the soundness of the city's employee pension system.

The board's next meeting is scheduled in the mayor's office for 2 p.m. Friday, April 28.

Mayor Wilson also announced his intentions during his State of the City address to form a citizens' panel to assure the soundness of the city's finances through the thorough examination by independent fiscal experts.

Committee to Study Jarvis-Gann Prop

A Blue Ribbon Commission has been established by the County of San Diego to independently review and make findings of fact on the Jarvis-Gann initiative which goes before the public at the June 6, statewide primary election.

The Board of Supervisors unanimously approved appointment of the Commission which was proposed by Chairwoman Lucille V. Moore. According to Chairwoman Moore, the Commission will be composed of about 15 community members who will study the initiative and the various claims and reports surrounding it.

The study will be reviewed at a board conference set for 8:30 a.m., May 10, Room 303, County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway, San Diego. Supervisors stipulated that the study would in no way reflect their positions on Proposition 13, the Jarvis-Gann initiative.

Chairwoman Moore felt the Commission was necessary because of the number of conflicting and confusing impact studies relative to Proposition 13, which would set a maximum tax rate for residential and business property at one percent of market value.

She said such an independent group could provide local voters with a forthright review of the measure, without making any pro or con recommendations.

The Blue Ribbon Commission will consist of members appointed from the following organizations: Assn. of Concerned Taxpayers, Assoc. General Contractors of America, Building Contractors Assn., Calpurg, Chicano Federation, Common Cause, League of Women Voters, NAACP, San Diego Chamber of Commerce, San Diego County Farm Bureau, San Diego-Imperial Counties Labor Council AFL-CIO, San Diego State University's Public Administration Department, San Diego Taxpayer's Assn. and United Way.

LEMON GROVE MAYOR James Dorman presents a proclamation to Old Time Days chairman Lu Anne Holaday (l) and Brenda Coberly declaring this weekend for the Old Time Days Celebration.

Planning Begins in September

LG's Old Time Days—How They Put It Together

It takes eight dedicated volunteers, seven months of planning, and more than $1,000 to put on an Old Time Days Parade.

This year's event began, according to parade chairman Lu Anne Holaday, early last September with the first meeting of the Lemon Grove Old Time Days Committee.

In that first meeting, the committee selected the date, April 8, and began mailing out application blanks to those organizations who have participated in previous parades.

Then came the waiting for the entries to come in.

First in for this year's parade was longtime Old Time Days supporter, the KGB Chicken. The chicken was the first to tell the committee he would march in the 15th annual Old Time Days Parade. His application came in early October.

As entries lagged throughout October, the committee busied themselves with other important aspects of the three day long Old Time Days Celebration.

Secured was Christiansen Amusements, a carnival firm from the Los Angeles area. Also the committee got a break for this year's carnival.

St. John of the Cross Church offered to lend the use of their grounds to the Old Time Days Committee as a site for the Christiansen carnival.

In previous years, the carnival has been set up at Lemon Grove Junior High School. Its three day run had to be coordinated with Easter vacation set by the Lemon Grove School District.

With the 'St. John' of the Cross Church donation, the carnival could occur simultaneously with the Old Time Days Parade rather than several weeks earlier.

"It makes the events around Old Time Days come together better with the carnival running along with the parade," said Parade Chairman Lu Anne Holaday.

By January, the committee was receiving applications by the handful and by March 8, the deadline for entries, entries were being delivered "like crazy."

After the deadline for entries, the line-up was determined and the final script for the parade written.

"I really think the planning for this year's parade went smoothly," said Parade Chairman Holaday, "the only thing which would have made our planning better would be to have more volunteers."

Square Dance Kicks Off OTD

Some that came last year had never stood in a square before and after the evening was over they were not only square dancing but were making plans to attend a square dance class to learn more.

What prompted these spectators to try their hand at one of the most natural forms of dance was the annual Old Time Days Oldies but Goodies Square Dance.

This year's dance will be held tomorrow night in Lemon Grove Junior High Auditorium with dancing set to begin at 7:30 p.m.

MC for the event, Ron East will be calling the squares and will be assisted by guest callers from area-wide clubs.

Special demonstrations by the San Diego Calico Cloggers also are part of the evening. The Cloggers have recently travelled throughout California demonstrating the Ozark tap step known as clogging.

Also, round dancing will be on the program. Round dancing is basically the same as ballroom dancing yet it is done in a circle.

Refreshments and door prizes are included in the $1 donation with all donations going to the Old Time Days Committee for future OTD's.

According to Ron East the night will especially cater to those who have never square danced before.

"We are going to make it so that the spectators can join right in," he said.

and the other women would have constituted the city council with the most women on the council in the state. About Lemon Grove's cityhood she said incorporation was proper and the prognosis "is excellent."

Sankey is the second woman in the Equalization Board's 98-year history to serve and the first to become vice-chairman.

The Board of Equalization collects sales, gasoline, cigarette and auto in lieu taxes and returns city and county shares.

Sankey said it has concerned her that so many businesses in California falls in their first couple of years. "I am studying ways to get information to all business people to help them weather the early business storms. With my staff we are studying the possibility of holding classes once or twice a year so that at least simple books are being kept. We may be able to get such classes into community colleges. Then these people could more quickly recognize their trouble spots."

Equalization employees approximately 2,700 people statewide. 800 are in Sacramento. Of the remainder 450 are in Sankey's district.

She is a graduate of Palomar College and S.D. State College with a B.A. in Social Science. Mrs. Sankey has been married 30 years and has a married daughter and a son who is a graduate of the UCSD. Her husband is a San Diego County businessman.

Study Claims Workers Receive Big Paychecks

The San Diego Chamber of Commerce has found out skilled maintenance workers and unskilled plant workers in San Diego have bigger paychecks than their counterparts in the rest of the nation.

The findings were based on information supplied by the U. S. Department of Labor.

individually. He claimed he didn't read newspapers and didn't know about the rezone.

A Spring Valley man, Dick Olson, told of severe injuries suffered by his son, Rick, 18, about midnight Saturday at the L.G. Jack-in-the-Box. He said his son, seated with 5 other teen-agers was attacked by 3 men 18-25. The youth's nose and cheek were crushed by the men wielding a pry bar and a metal pipe. He will require approximately a year of plastic surgery to correct the injuries, Olson said.

Olson asked for more police protection and complained that it took more than 30 minutes for a sheriff's unit to respond. He said his son was transported to the Grossmont hospital by friends, an act which "probably saved his life."

Councilman Jack Doherty said the Olson incident was not an isolated case.

The next council meeting will be April 17 at the Community Center.

Ask Your C.H.P.

CHP Capt. C. M. Douglas

Last week Captain Douglas discussed citizen band radios in the CHP cars based in El Cajon.

If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you, ask it. It could save you a citation — or it could even save your life.

Address your questions in care of this newspaper and please allow at least three weeks for your answer to appear.

This Week's Question:

Last year the CHP began a crackdown against speeding and tailgating trucks. What ever happened to the program?

Answer:

The program is still going on. December of 1977 marked the sixth consecutive month that arrests for speeding and tailgating trucks were above the same month a year earlier.

In December 1977, the CHP arrested 4,195 truck drivers for speeding, and another 308 citations were issued for following too close. These are comparable to 3,872 speed arrests and 251 tailgating arrests for December 1976.

CHP Commissioner Glen Craig said the CHP will continue its strict enforcement policy against oversize vehicles who are in violation of excessive speed and following too closely.

VIP Gets $6,000

$9,000 was donated by the County of San Diego's Employees' Charitable Organization (CECO) for use by Volunteers in Probation (VIP).

The donation, unanimously approved by the Board of Supervisors, will be placed in a trust fund to further the rehabilitation of probationers and wards under court jurisdiction.

New Vehicle Code Released by DMV

Eighty-three bills enacted by the Legislature in 1977, affecting 247 Vehicle Code sections, are reflected in the 1977 edition of the Vehicle Code, now available to the public from the California Department of Motor Vehicles.

The 1977 Code may be obtained for $1 at any of DMV's 147 field offices or by writing to DMV headquarters, P.O. Box 1828, Sacramento, CA 95809.

One new law permits blind persons and persons who suffer from cardiovascular disease to purchase a placard for $4 permitting their vehicles to be parked for unlimited periods in time-limit or metered parking spaces.

Other new laws cover paying parking tickets before a vehicle can be registered; issuance of seven-digit personalized license plates; operation of three-wheeled motor-driven cycles with a standard driver's license; penalty for parking in a space reserved for the disabled; and permitting motorized bicycles to be driven in city street bike lanes.
